Sony Ericsson

Imagine.

The fascinating AIBO concept is firmly established in the ambitious project from Sony to create intelligent companions that entertain people. To achieve this, a groundbreaking vision to combine Sony flagship technologies with Artificial Intelligence was pursued.

The result: a unique companion capable of expressing emotion and communicating with other electronic devices at home and beyond.

With its power and smartness under a sophisticated design, the Sony Ericsson P900 unequivocally justifies the claim of evolutionary blueprinting in mobile technology.

The perfect work companion that isn't bad for play either.

Ideal companions!

AIBO loves taking colour pictures. The Sony Ericsson P900 is an image worker, perfectly equipped for viewing, saving and sharing pictures. They go well together.

Whether you're away or at home you can use your P900 mobile telephone to send an email to AIBO with the instruction to take a picture.

AIBO reads your email and snaps the photo you requested, using the digital camera situated in its nose.

AIBO sends the picture back to your P900 for your inspection, thanks to the magic of a built-in Wireless LAN module and AIBO's capability to connect remotely to your mobile device.

Do you like what you see? Save the image to your P900, there's plenty of space. Or to your PC, where you can browse through AIBO's quality images at leisure.
